COMES TO THE SWINDLER'S AID.

An Important Development Comes to Light-A Letter From Holmes to Quinlan Found.

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.-An important development came to hight Sat-urday in the Holmes case. It was in the form of a letter written from Chicago by "H. W. Mischoff" to a Philadelphia friend of Holmes, and states that the writer knows of the whereabouts of the alleged to have been murdered at Toronto If this shall be substantiated,

CHAPPELL THOUGHT TO BE INNOCEN and that this acted on his mind to such an extent that he did not always talk rationally. "If my father knew Holmes, I did not know anything about it," he Chief Badenech would not say whether he thought Chappell had any guity knowledge of Holmes' misdeeds or not. Inspector Fitzpatrick is inclined to believe the man's story about putting together skeletons for Holmes, but believes that he did it in a perfectly innocent way.

Medical experts pronounce the skeletons as having belonged to two girls about the age of twenty, and a woman of middle age. As an insurance swindler, nothing would have been more natural than for him to have procured bodies, with the intention of deceiving the companies.

and then have their skeletons articulated as an extra source of revenue. Patrick Quinlan still maintains a sturdy

Most of the day was devoted to trying to locate the hidden vats in which Michinist Chappell told the police Holmes was accustomed to boil bodies.

The secret tunnell described by Mrs. Shriver, of Kansas City, was also looked for, but has not been found.

People who knew Dr. Russler in Englewood say he disappeared suddenly in 1922, and some adhere to the theory that he met death in the charnel.

Dr. Robinson found to-day the signature of Minnie Williams on several notes he has at his store, and they will be used by the police in the investigation of the alleged transfer of the Fort Worth (Tex.) property by the Williams girl. By these the police hope to settle the disputed question as to whether the deed was forged.

The huge brick vault underneath Holmes' charnel-house was unearthed by the police to-day.

FOUND BY CHAPTELL.

When Chappell accompanied the officers through the Holmes house yesterday he indicated the location of the vault in the southeast corner of the cellar.

At 4:30 o'clock the officers in charge of the work telephoned police headquarters that they had reached and uncovered long strip of the roof of the vanit. Superintendent Badenoch at once gave orders to get it in such shape that the vanit could be opened. The police theory is that Holmes used this vault for quick liming the bodies of his victims and setting them in such condition that they could not possibly be identified, and that Chappell, the articulator, would not suspect that they were anything more than cadavers secured at medical colleges of hospitals.

While the police are not hopeful of finding bodies of murdered people in the vault, they are at the same time hopeful of securing evidence to fully istablish just what the vault was used for, and what connection, if any, the vault had with half a dozen human bodies that were carted away from the charnel house to the home of the articulator.

JANITOR QUINIAN'S PART,

Almost every new delevorment leads Janitor Quinlan into the net. The police know he is unwilking to tell all he knows, and are anxious to secure enough evidence to force a confession from him in order to fasten the crimes upon Holmes securely.

Whether or not the skeletons are those of murdered people, it is definitely known that Holmes derived considerable revenue from the sale of articulated human frames to medical colleges.

The police to-day found a man whom they say admits ne was employed by Holmes ic do the queer trickwork about the mystarious house. They have heard

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 28—A special from Conway says that John Erston was killed by John S. McCarkill, a trial justice's constable. Bruton had attacked one Johnson, who had testified against him in a trial just concluded. McCaskill interposed to stop the treable. Braton's father took his son's part. The latter used his knife on McCaskill, who then resorted to his pistol.

The youncer Bruton received two shots, causing death in a few minutes. The coroner's jury rendered a vertical of excusable homicide.

McCaskill surrendered to the sheriff, and is now in jail.

AGES UNDERSTATED.

In the course of Inspector Abrams' investigation he discovered that there had been only two or three policies assued by the Massachusetts Benefit that had any semblance of being straight. Men and women sixty-five to eighty years of age had been insured on the basis of ages ranging from ten to fifteen years. He discovered also that one of the in-

of the policy.

Fereda Williams had been in ill health for several years. Her husband, Samuel Williams, who is nominated as beneficiary, is a fisherman, who is and always has been in straightened circumstances, and whose average carnings at his occupation would not exceed three dollars per week the year round.
